Summary

The 21 June 2016 release for Historical Texts is a major update providing a range of new features as well as additional data.

Enhanced functionality includes improvements to the searching and display of EEBO periodicals as well as ECCO and BL multi-volume works. New data is available in the form of additional EEBO images, an additional 20,000 EEBO full text transcriptions (EEBO TCP) and, for the first time, 2000 manually keyed full text transcriptions for ECCO (ECCO TCP).

These release notes describe the changes specific to each collection.

We hope you find the new features useful and we welcome feedback on them, so please do contact the helpdesk at historicaltexts@jisc.ac.uk to let us know your thoughts or for any assistance using them.

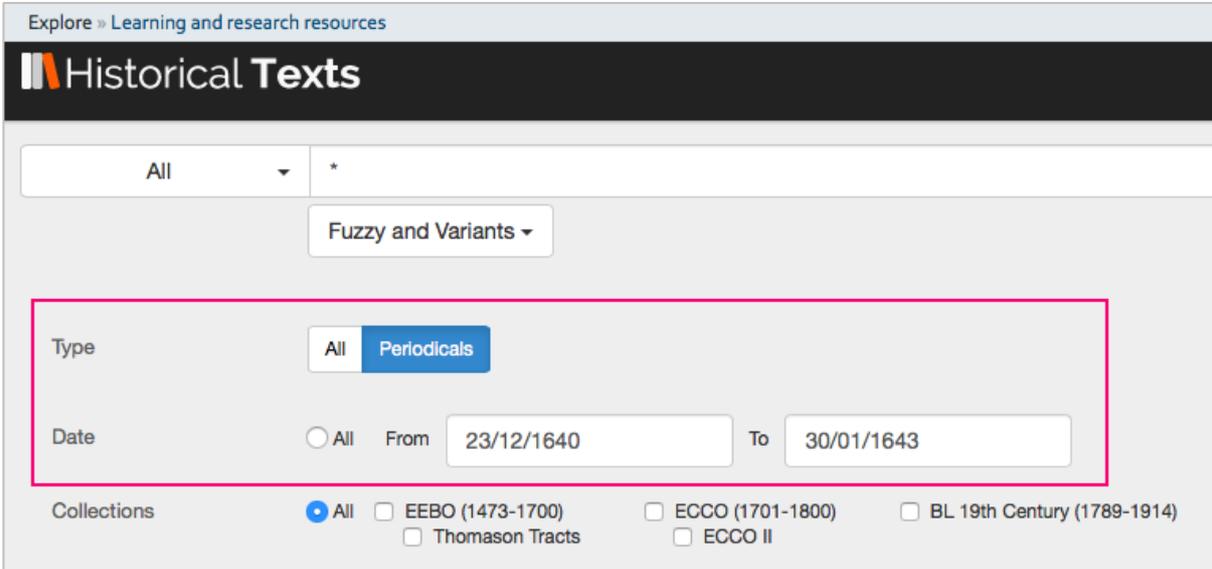

You can access Historical Texts at: <http://historicaltexts.jisc.ac.uk> .

If you can access Historical Texts, but can't see any of the new features, we recommend you clear your browser cache and cookies in the first instance. This will ensure you're viewing the latest version of the application.

EEBO enhancements

EEBO periodical search

You can now select to just search EEBO periodicals in Historical Texts by choosing the 'periodicals' 'type' button on the search page. When selected the 'periodicals' button will be blue and the date search box will change to enable you to enter dates in the format 'dd/mm/yyyy' to 'dd/mm/yyyy'.

The screenshot shows the search interface for Historical Texts. At the top, there is a breadcrumb trail: "Explore » Learning and research resources". Below this is the "Historical Texts" logo. The search area includes a dropdown menu set to "All" and a search box containing an asterisk (*). Below the search box is a "Fuzzy and Variants" dropdown. The "Type" section has two buttons: "All" and "Periodicals", with "Periodicals" being highlighted in blue. Below this is a "Date" section with a radio button for "All" and a date range search box. The date range search box has "From" and "To" labels, with the "From" field containing "23/12/1640" and the "To" field containing "30/01/1643". At the bottom, there is a "Collections" section with several radio buttons: "All" (selected), "EEBO (1473-1700)", "Thomason Tracts", "ECCO (1701-1800)", "ECCO II", and "BL 19th Century (1789-1914)".

So, for example, if you wanted to search for all periodicals published in June 1642 you could enter '*' in the search box (use the default option to select 'all' fields) and enter 01/06/1642 to 30/06/1642 in the date search.

EEBO periodicals display

Publications that are part of a series are now displayed differently, to enable you to quickly identify them and navigate the the individual issue you require.

If you search for a particular periodical e.g. Mercurius Politicus, you'll see that there is a bibliographic record for the periodical which has a new 'series' thumbnail and if you select this thumbnail, you will be transferred to the new 'periodicals' tab on the results page where the list of individual issues will be displayed. You can then select an issue to open in the viewer as usual.

Additional download options for EERO texts with manually keyed text transcriptions (EERO TCP)

Publications with full text transcriptions, provided by the Text Creation Partnership (TCP), can now be downloaded in XML (this is the TCP markup), epub, HTML and plain text alongside the existing PDF download option. These new options are visible from the download icon in the viewer when viewing EERO TCP texts.

Additional EEBO TCP full text transcriptions

20,000 additional EEBO manually keyed full text transcriptions from the Text Creation Partnership (<http://www.textcreationpartnership.org/tcp-eebo/>) are now available.

Additional EEBO images

Newly digitised images provided by ProQuest are now available.

Search on EEBO TCP ID

The Text Creation Partnership have allocated their own reference numbers (TCP ID) to EEBO publications with manually keyed text transcriptions and you can search on these reference numbers in Historical Texts. Simply enter a TCP ID into the search box e.g. A16975 and search across the default 'all' fields.

ECCO enhancements

2000 ECCO manually keyed text transcriptions (ECCO TCP)

The Text Creation Partnership produced 2000 manually keyed full text transcriptions for ECCO. These records have been added to Historical Texts and replace the existing Optical Character Recognition (OCR) full text for these records, providing improved searching for these publications.

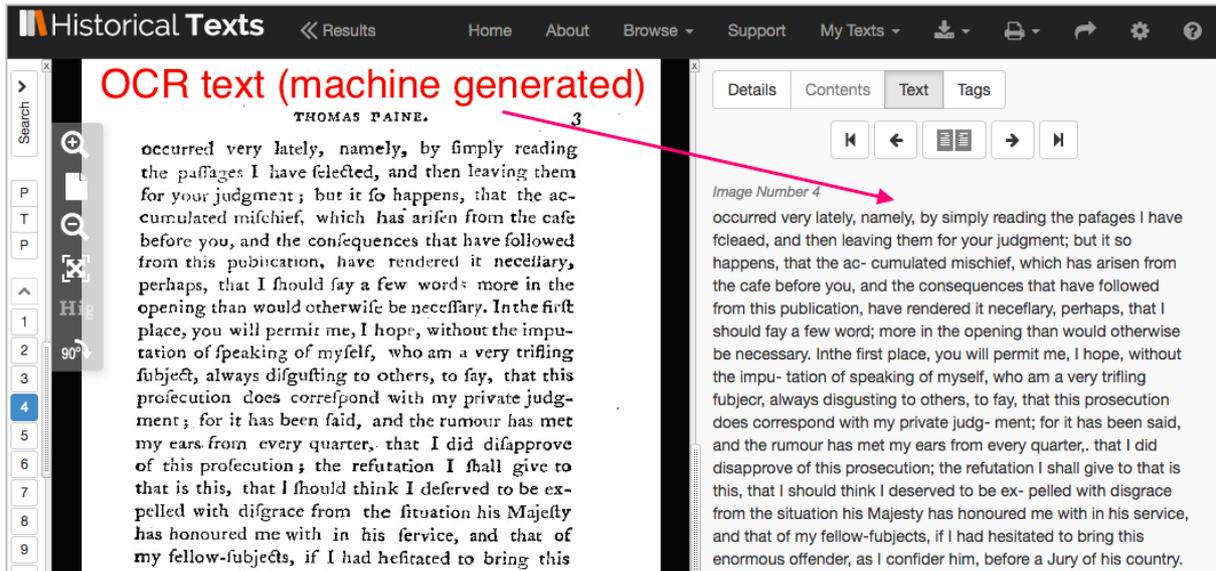

New manually keyed full text:

occurred very lately, namely, by simply reading the passages I have selected, and then leaving them for your judgment; but it so happens, that the accumulated mischief, which has arisen from the case before you, and the consequences that have followed from this publication, have rendered it necessary, perhaps, that I should say a few words more in the opening than would otherwise be necessary. In the first place, you will permit me, I hope, without the imputation of speaking of myself, who am a very trifling subject, always disgusting to others, to say, that this prosecution does correspond with my private judgment; for it has been said, and the rumour has met my ears from every quarter, that I did disapprove of this prosecution; the refutation I shall give to that is this, that I should think I deserved to be expelled with disgrace from the situation his Majesty has honoured me with in his service, and that of my fellow-subjects, if I had hesitated to bring this enormous offender, as I consider him, before a Jury of his country.

If you run a search on the ECCO collection only, you can then use the 'text type' filter on the left hand side of the results page and select 'keyed' records to limit your results to just the TCP texts.

Additional download options for ECCO texts with manually keyed text transcriptions (ECCO TCP)

Publications with manually keyed text transcriptions (ECCO TCP) provided by the Text Creation Partnership (TCP) can now be downloaded in XML (this is the TCP markup), epub, HTML and plain text alongside the existing PDF download option. These new options are visible from the download icon in the viewer when viewing ECCO TCP texts.

Links between volumes of multi-volume works

Publications that have multiple volumes are now displayed differently to enable you to quickly identify them and navigate to the individual volume you require.

If you search for a particular multi-volume publication by ESTC number, e.g. N025348, you'll see that there is a bibliographic record for the title which has a new 'multi-volume' thumbnail, and a 'volumes' link below the record. Select the 'volumes' link to expand a list of available volumes for that title then select a volume to open it in the viewer.

Search on ESTC number with or without the leading zero

Previously for ECCO records with a leading zero in the ESTC bibliographic reference number (e.g. N042203), you needed to include the leading zero to locate them.

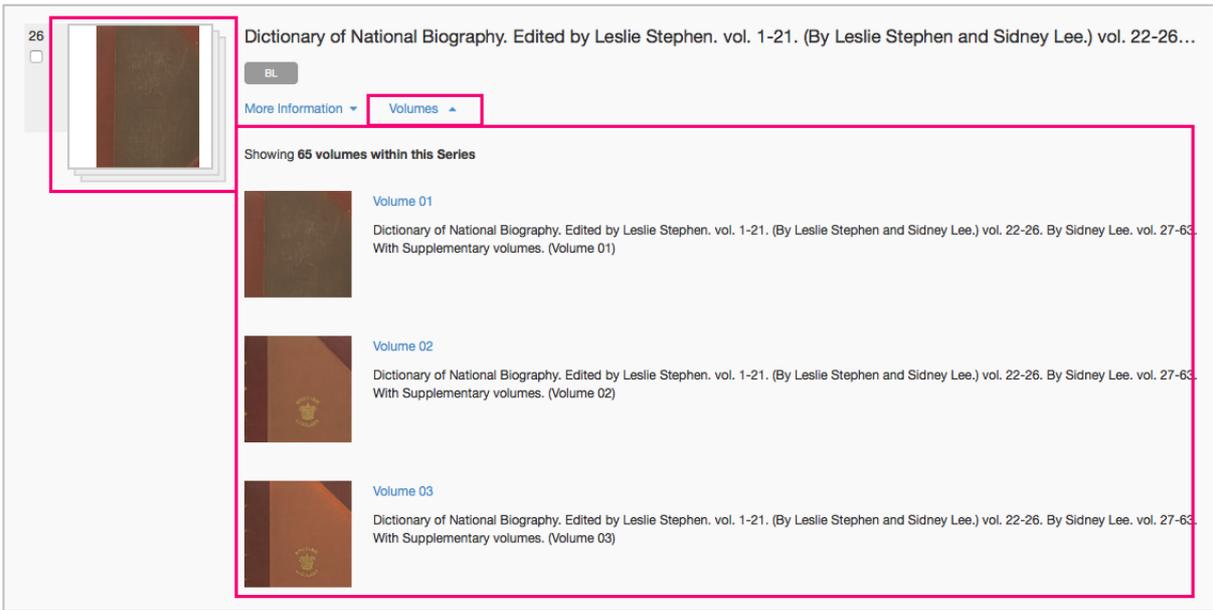

Now you can search with or without the leading zero so 'N042203' and 'N42203' will locate the same Daniel Defoe text "The original power of the collective body of the people of England examined and asserted".

BL enhancements

Links between volumes of multi-volume works

Publications that have multiple volumes are now displayed differently to enable you to quickly identify them and navigate to the individual volume you require.

If you search for a particular multi-volume by title, e.g. Dictionary of National Biography, you'll see that there is a bibliographic record for the title which has a new 'multi-volume' thumbnail, and a 'volumes' link below the record. Select the 'volumes' link to expand a list of available volumes for that title then select a volume to open it in the viewer.

The screenshot shows a library catalog record for the "Dictionary of National Biography, Edited by Leslie Stephen. vol. 1-21. (By Leslie Stephen and Sidney Lee.) vol. 22-26...". The record includes a "BL" button, a "More Information" dropdown menu, and a "Volumes" link. The "Volumes" link is highlighted with a red box, and a red box also highlights the multi-volume thumbnail on the left. Below the "Volumes" link, a list of 65 volumes is displayed, with the first three volumes shown as examples:

- Volume 01
Dictionary of National Biography, Edited by Leslie Stephen. vol. 1-21. (By Leslie Stephen and Sidney Lee.) vol. 22-26. By Sidney Lee. vol. 27-63. With Supplementary volumes. (Volume 01)
